

ABSTRACT

- A fuel dispenser that displays information based upon the identity of the customer includes a user interface that permits the fuel dispenser to determine the identity of the customer. Once the fuel dispenser has
- 5 determined the identity of the customer, the fuel dispenser displays information on a display that is customized as a function of the determined identity of the customer.